Young Minds Of Our Nation

A poem by me 'Strong Stands the Youth' says "Be sturdy like the Himalayas, soft like the grains of sand from Thar, zesty like the waters from Bay of Bengal, behold the values of saints and priests; oh youth of India, through you breathes the nation and through you it shall rise." It depicts that the youth of a nation should possess the attributes of its land and strive incessantly to lead the country towards the path of success. Amidst the cacophony that prevails in the nation, the youth shall find measures to weave an environment of peace and progress. However, many of us often impose questions about why does all these dense clouds of a nation's development are placed on the shoulder of its youth?

It is important to realize that it is not just the youth that is responsible for the overall development of the nation, every citizen is equally important for the progress of a country. Nevertheless, youth is the time when a person is in its most energetic state, it is a stage of life where one can move beyond the horizon and explore its capabilities in totality. Since a country's future depends on its youth, it can be rightly said that youth is the building block of a nation.

Whoever is in power today will pass away and then young ones shall overrule its ancestors. Hence, it is very important for a country to produce educated, healthy and hardworking youth. A nation is similar to a family; the responsibility of its wellbeing passes over from the old ones to the young ones. If the coming generation dwells in laziness, procrastination and ill habits, the nation will witness a turmoil and gradually it will sink. The youth is the upcoming doctors, scientists, musicians, sportsperson, politicians, artists and dramatists. If the quality of youth is deteriorated then it is clearly visible that the nation will lose all its assets and fall down to the pedestal. Imagine if there were no students in Indian schools, colleges, and sport fields, do you think ISRO would have been successful to build Chandrayaan or AIMS to deliver excellent medical services or engineers inventing new technologies or we would have received uncountable numbers of medals in various sports championships?

It does not require a second thought to accept that youth is the flag bearer of a nation. The role of youth is not limited to education and sports; it rises up to bringing revolutions in the nation. A bright youth is able to find the faults in the society and begins to condemn them, giving birth to a more morale society. Social evils like sati, child marriage, and discrimination on the bases of gender and color collapsed because the active youth revolted against it. Thus, social revolutions also take place through the youth. If the youth of a nation cannot protest against injustice, the nation reduces into a madhouse of floating crimes. It is not only the responsibility but also the duty of youth to get educated so that they can draw a wedge between the wrong and right.

Nevertheless, education should not be limited only to academics but should be able to imbibe virtues and morals in the hearts and minds of the young ones. An academically excellent youth that looms in crime can never establish productivity and growth.

Imagine if in 1857, Mangal Pandey decided to succumb to British exploitation instead of leading the first war of Indian Independence, we would have still been clasped in the the palms of ruthless Britishers. One cannot ignore the power that resides in a youthful heart. A nation's youth should be courageous enough to fight for its individuality and sovereignty of its motherland otherwise the nation will witness its end.

Hence, the role of youth in nation building does not limit only in the acts of leading its progress, it stretches to protection of the land, securing the human rights of all the other citizens, in making affective policies, in bringing revolutions when needed and also in making sure that nation is free from crime, injustice and any kind of discrimination.

As Swami Vivekananda once said, "A brave, frank, clean-hearted, and aspiring youth is the only foundation on which the future of a nation can be built." It truly reflects the importance of the youth in overall development, growth and progress of the nation. Last but not the least, the youth should come together shoulder to shoulder and work in collaboration to tie this nation with a thread of peace, harmony, health and success. It is through the youth together that this nation will rule the ground like lion in the forest and will seize the sky like eagles gliding through the storms.

The Face of Judas Iscariot

BONNIE CHAMBERLAIN

Centuries ago a great artist was enraged to paint a mural, for the cathedral in a Sicilian town. Mural means wall painting. The subject was 'The life of Jesus.' For many years, the artist labored diligently, and finally the painting was finished except for the two most important figures. The figure of the child Jesus and Judas Iscariot. He searched everywhere for people who could be models for these two figures. One while walking in an old part of the city he came up some children playing in the street. Among them was a twelve-year-old boy whose face stirred the painter's heart. It was the face of an angel. Perhaps, but the face he needed. The artist took the child home with him, and day after day, the boy sat patiently until the Christ child was finished. However, the painter still found no one to serve as model for the portrait of Judas. For years, haunted by the fear that his masterpiece would remain unfinished, he continues his search. The story of the unfinished masterpiece spread afar, and many men, fancying themselves of wicked countenance, offered to pose as models for the face of Judas. However, the artist was not satisfied. He wanted his Judas to be a man whose life had been destroyed by greed and lust. Then one afternoon as he sat in the tavern over his daily glass of wine, a gaunt and tattered figure staggered across the threshed and fell upon the floor "wine, wine," he begged. The painter lifted him up, and looked into a face that startled him. It seemed to bear the marks of every sin of mankind. Greatly excited, the old painter helped the profligate to his feet. "come with me, and I will give you wine, and food and clothing", he said. Here at last was the model for Judas. For many days and part of many nights the painter worked feverishly to complete his masterpiece. At the work went on a change came over the model. A stronger tension replaced the stupors anger, and his bloodshot eyes were fixed with horror on the painted likeness of himself. One day, perceiving his subject's agitation. The painter paused in his work "My Son I'd like to help you, he said what troubles you so?" "Do you not then remember me? Years ago, I was your model for the Child Jesus." Now my face that was completely evil. The suggestion is that completely evil. But slowly he becomes wicked and loses his innocence. This is a story about all of us.

LAKHAN SINGH INVATEE

God has placed each one of us in this wonderful world full of beauty. Therefore, as brothers and sisters we should live together in a friendly and brotherly way. Today, there is very little friendliness in this world. There are people whom we don't like and there are others who don't like us, what creates this enmity between human beings? It is dishonesty.

We have to leave behind dishonesty and restart our journey towards our goals.

The future of India depends on our students. A country's name and fame rests on the youth. If the power of young men or students is directed to constructive the whole nation moves towards development. A nation can make progress only when it gets the co-operation from all its citizens. And for that we need to educate our youth. Good education creates a new mindset that promotes ingenuity, passion, and personal relationship. It requires thinking outside the established norms. Thinking outside the box is a must. Education must help us to do so. It is the way that we will be able to identify problems and formulate solution. This type of mindset depends on risk taking because that is the only way one can truly live out of his or her passion without being discriminated .

A person with a progressive mindset, necessarily experiences failure. The problem is that our society fears and despise failure. Many teach their kids to be number one! But how is it possible if they are not giving them freedom to choose their interest goal?

India is a developing country. The young men can do a lot to make it developed. They can go to rural areas for giving adult education, for doing social works for the poor villagers, for teaching them new technology to develop themselves.

To play their role in modern India we need to tell the youth to make themselves disciplined and honest. India is fortunate that it has more than 60%of its total population of the country consisting young people. And most of them are the students. These young people can do a lot in the development work of the country. All these works are possible only when students are honest to their duties because this kind of mindset will lead our country to beyond of our imagination.

ROLE OF STUDENTS IN NATION BUILDING

"Your pride for your country should not come after your country becomes great; Your country becomes great because of your pride in it ".

The future of the country depends on its students, the upcoming youth of a nation. Students are filled with passion, will and determination. A nation can make progress when it has its human resources. it is essential that students must be aware of their duties.

Since India is a developing country, it needs more and more effort and hands to make it a developed country by encouraging the students and directing their goals to country's goal which can lead to success.

India is rapidly changing country in which inclusive high quality education is of utmost importance for its future prosperity. the country is currently in a youth bulge phase. it has the largest youth population in the world.

The demographic change could be a powerful engine of economic growth and development. if Indian manages to modernize and expand its education system, raise educational attainment levels, and provide skill to its youth.

All they need is the trust of their parents and elders. they want them to help them to have a clear vision about their thoughts, to help them be more disciplined towards them.

The government of the nation should try to create opportunities for students to participate in developing their skills. to help them each master a skill they are good in.

YOUNG MINDS OF OUR NATION

ARYAA PANDEY ASKED THE STUDENTS OF DIFFERENT AGE GROUPS A COMMON

QUESTION: WHAT IS THE ROLE OF STUDENTS IN NATION BUILDING ?

HERE ARE THEIR OPINIONS:-

According to world survey, India has highest population of youth ,the youth which is energetic and productive in its respective fields. When it comes to nation building , we must first improve ourselves-“AAPO DEEPO BHAVA “.

“A developed India by 2020 or even earlier, is not a dream. It need not be a mere vision in the minds of many Indians. It is a mission we can all take up – and succeed.”

Dr. A.P.J. Abdul Kalam

Our former President had a strong vision of our country being counted amongst one of the developed nations of the world . But still our nation is underdeveloped. So we should focus on implementing our older plans successfully rather than making new ones. We should develop ourselves and the society by having a positive mindset and beautiful thoughts. Only then we can develop our nation just like the great leaders of the world.

Youth is the present and future of our country, hence, the youth has a very important role to play in our country. To talk about the present, we see highest percentage of population is youth, actively participating in social, political and moral activities. Therefore, they have more contribution to do so. The educated youth know about their plans and can wisely take best decisions for themselves.

NAME: SAMIKSHA VISHWAKARMA

AGE: 23

Present day world has a lot of competition. Each person has different mindsets, different plans about their future. One thinks he can be at top in one field and the other thinks the same way but in a different field .Hence, everyone competes with each other that makes them better than the rest .If each person will benefit himself or herself, the society will be benefited. If societies are benefited, communities are benefited. If our communities are benefited, the nation is benefited.

NAME: TANYA BADKUL

AGE: 20

Our youth is energetic. They live in a modern world. They have all kinds of technology and other brilliant facilities. So having all these assets youth should understand the world better. Their minds also run similar to today's modern and creative ways .Hence; our youth should create a bridge between the old and the new generation using their energy and creativity.

NAME: PINKI RAI

AGE: 20

The youth of our country is active, hence, they are capable of achieving any target . Our young generation consists of people who fall in between the senior generation of old mindset and the modern generation of new ideologies .Our youth can work towards developing both generations together and enlighten them about various new and productive things which they are capable of doing . With a broad mindset and optimistic efforts , youth can changes a nation for the best!

NAME : AWINASH KASHYAP

Youth of our country is enthusiastic. Many a times cases of discrimination between boys and girls are witnessed. In states in Haryana , girls are seen as incapable of doing something , they are unworthy of any valuable thing . hence , girls should be empowered .For example, when used to go to district panchayat (jury) for wall painting, we met ladies who were illiterate or the ladies who did not even know what school is. There were ladies inadvertent about terms like centimeter or inch.

At the end , I just want to say that if the youth wants to develop the nation , it should primarily focus on the development and empowerment of the female citizens with the help of the modern mindset of our youth .
