Prologue

- Poultry farming is the process of raising domesticated birds such as chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese for the purpose of farming meat or eggs for food. Poultry – mostly chickens – are farmed in great numbers.
- Poultry is at the same time particularly important for small holders and poor rural and urban population and a commodity produced in large scale and intensive operations, making it one of the fastest growing agricultural sub-sectors
- Global production of eggs has reached 73 million tons and global production of poultry meat is close to 100 million tons (GLEAM 2, 2016). Backyard systems contribute to 8% of global eggs production and 2% of global poultry meat production. The majority (92%) of poultry meat production comes from specialized broiler systems and layers only contribute to 6% of the total.
- The world has over 23 billion poultry birds- about three per person on the planet (FAOSTAT, 2016), and about 5 times more than 50 years ago. They are kept and raised in a wide range of production systems, and provide mainly meat, eggs and manure for crop fertilization.

The term Intellectual Property implies to intellectual creativity such as invention, musical, literacy, symbol, design, name and ideas. IPR is a prerequisite for better identification planning and protection of invention or creativity. Patent is recognition to the form of IP manifested in invention and is granted for inventions which satisfy the requirements of novelty and utility under the stringent examination and opposition procedure prescribed in the Indian Patents Act, 1970. IPR and Patenting plays a key role in academic sector and thus an adequate legal framework for its process and protection is very much needed. The national training program on "Intellectual Property Rights and Patenting: A New Vision" offers a succinct but comprehensive account on IPR and patenting and its importance in industrial and scientific area.
