Webinar on “Code of Conduct for B.Ed Teachers”

Date: 16th April 2024

Report: The Code of Conduct for B.Ed students is designed to cultivate a professional, respectful, and ethical environment conducive to learning and teaching. It mandates that students exhibit integrity, responsibility, and accountability in all their academic and professional activities. Key elements include adherence to academic honesty, respect for diversity and inclusion, and commitment to maintaining confidentiality and professional boundaries in educational settings. The code also emphasizes the importance of punctuality, appropriate communication, and collaboration with peers, educators, and the broader school community. By adhering to these standards, B.Ed students are prepared to become exemplary educators who uphold the values and responsibilities of the teaching profession. and ethics.
